This app allows you to clock in and out. On the toolbar of the app, you can see the multiple options that are available to users. The one that is most used is the Clock-in/Out function displayed by a stopwatch.

This menu allows a user to clock-in to work. You can also clock in from the home screen.

Your sign in will be created from an invite email, that will be sent to you

Once the attempt to Clock-in has started, you must first choose a location. The main location being chosen will be the "ICTechnology Head Office."

After adding the location and hitting Clock-in, it will take you to another menu confirming that you are the office. If you are not in the office when clocking in, a warning will release, letting you know that you are out of the range, however you can still clock in.

The Clock-Out process works in the same fashion. To Clock-Out, go to the Clock-in/Out menu. Then hit clock out, and it will show you location.

If a user does not clock in or out, it will not be recorded. There will be no extensive chasing up, a missed day will just be clocked under annual leave
